MEETINGS TO BE PUBLIC

All Nations Will Have Chance to Offer Suggestions to Conference.By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—The disarmament conference of the great powers to be held here next autumn will not be a secret convocation.

Although the invitations were limited to Great Britain, Japan, Italy, France and United States and China, the other nations of the world will have an opportunity to keep posted on what is being done and to offer concurrently through diplomatic channels any suggestions or ideas bearing on a solution of the problems that come up for discussion.

The government here felt that by asking the group known as the principal allied and associated powers more progress could be made than by attempting to have a big assembly which might resolve itself into a debating society and get no results. As one official spokesman of the administration phrased it, the conference called by Mr. Harding is not "a shout in the air" but an attempt "to get results."

Must Remove Friction

The same official who, of course, is conversant with every phase of our foreign policy made it clear that it was perfectly useless to talk about disarmament if the problems of the far East were not settled to everybody's satisfaction. He pointed out that so long as people felt insecure about developments in the Pacific there would be no inclination to dispense with naval armament. In other words, when the sources of possible friction and war were removed once for all in the Pacific there would be much more rapid progress toward disarmament. This indeed is the answer made by government officials to the criticism that the disarmament conference should not have included a discussion of Far Eastern problems and that the tangles over the latter would delay and obstruct the disarmament movement itself. But the government takes just the opposite view—namely until the questions pending with Japan and China and the European and American nations over the Far East are out of the way, nobody will make a sincere move toward limiting armament.

The problem of Russia injects itself incidentally into this big international mark. Heretofore in every Far Eastern dispute handled by the great powers, Russia and Germany were always consulted. In fact they were principals in the discussion. But Germany is powerless. She has been ordered disarmed by the treaty of Versailles. She is considered impotent so far as jeopardizing anybody's interests in the Far East. As for Russia, none of the big powers, least of all the United States, feels that Russian cooperation at this time can be attained. But Russia will eventually be bound just the same as will be Germany to subscribe to the general principles that will be evolved in the parley on Far Eastern questions here next fall.

Treaty Problem

Something more specific and more binding than John Hay's open door policy thought founded on the same basis of equity and justice will be formulated with all the solemnity of a treaty obligation. Possibly it will not be a mere exchange of notes for that process has its disadvantages in the fact that changing administrations can ignore the action of their predecessors but probably a treaty or convention will be negotiated which will make it necessary for the British to renew their alliances with the Japanese.

Such a treaty or convention would be a "regional understanding" and as such is permitted by the covenant of the League of Nations. While America is not a member of the League, nevertheless all the other powers are bound by the covenant not to make any treaty inconsistent with that document and that making of a regional understanding is wholly in line with the principles of the covenant.

WANTS KIDS TO JOIN IN FIGHT FOR NICKEL SODAS

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Nation-wide soda water strike, to force down the price, is in the making, according to Mrs. Emma Grant, leader of the Bronx soda revolutionists.

"If the kids throughout the country rise up in all their just wrath against the soda profiteers, just as we have done, the price will soon come down," she said today.

"I have received letters from all parts of the country, from kids and civic leaders, encouraging a nationwide kid revolution against these profiteers and I believe they will do it."

After her three day crusade in the Home of the Cocktail, Mrs. Grant was able to force down ice cream soda prices from 17 and 22 cents to 11 cents.

"And we have only begun," she said. "Before long we will have it down to five cents where it belongs."

New Commission Believes Regulation of City's Traffic Is First Big Problem to Be Tackled.
Officers Are Elected.

City planning as the method of caring for the future growth of Appleton was formally launched Tuesday evening when the first meeting of the newly appointed city plan commission was held in the office of Mayor J. A. Hawes. Electing the mayor as chairman and Oscar F. Weisgerber, city engineer, as secretary, the commission got down to business.

There are seven members on the commission. The mayor, city engineer and Alderman James A. Wood represent the city government. Prof. O. P. Fairfield, appointed for one year, and Charles Boyd, appointed for three years, represent the citizens at large. They are Fred F. Wettengel, chairman of the park board, who resigned a few days ago, and Miss Geenen, who has not formally accepted her appointment for two years.

Study Planning Law
Part of the session was devoted to a reading of the city ordinance creating the commission, and the Wisconsin statute defining its duties. The law directs that matters concerning streets, traffic, bridges, public grounds, buildings, zoning, playgrounds and all such projects, be referred to the commission for study and recommendation to the common council. The commission is to definitely survey each situation and see that any changes or improvements are planned for future years as well as the present. A discussion resulted in a definite understanding as to what the commission's duties are to be.

There was a feeling among members of the commission that the problem of traffic should be the first to receive attention, as the situation is acute in Appleton and there is need of an arterial system of highways to relieve the congestion. This proposition and the proposed building of bridges should be studied together so the entire project, when completed, would distribute and regulate the city's traffic, the commission felt. A resolution seeking operation of the common council in immediate application to this matter is to be prepared and presented at the next council meeting. Zoning, park plans and such matters would follow in due course, it was felt.

As much of the commission's work involves difficult engineering problems and the necessity of obtaining facts and figures as the basis of future city building the members considered seriously the engaging of a consulting engineer to assist in taking surveys, preparing maps and the like. An offer of Leonard Smith, Madison, to devote some time to this task was presented, but no action was taken. Mr. Smith is to be invited to appear before the commission for a conference at its next meeting.

No regular meeting date was set by the members, owing to the many tasks before the commission in order to get its work started. Frequent gatherings will be held until the work is underway. There was general enthusiasm for this method of making Appleton a better city.

Milwaukee Solon Keeps

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—One man prevented the adjournment of the Wisconsin legislature Wednesday.

Senator Jennings, Milwaukee, demanded that the special Milwaukee teachers' retirement fund bill, introduced by himself and passed by both houses, be killed by the skeleton senate of seven members in session here. He was opposed by Senator Huber, and on a roll call, the senate was adjourned for twenty-four hours. The assembly followed suit.

Practically all business of the legislature is out of the way, and the gov-

READY FOR START OF PEACE PARLEYS

Informal "Conversations" Begin Today—Truce Broken in Belfast.

By United Press Leased Wire
Belfast, Ireland.—The Irish peace negotiations will open formally at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, it was officially announced today.

This first meeting of Premier Lloyd George and Eamon De Valera will be held at the former's offices at 10 Downing street, it was stated.

Plans were made for "conversations" between members of the Sinn Fein delegation and representatives of the British government on Wednesday.

Jan Smuts, premier of South Africa who is credited more than any other single person with making the peace negotiations possible, was the principal figure in these informal meetings. "Conversations" were intended to smooth the way for the formal negotiations through adjustment of many minor technical matters, such as the course of procedure. This would largely be in the hands of Smuts.

The grand jury will have to decide whether the persons or firms who got the additional 6 1/2 per cent were violating the statutes.

PENROSE OPENS FIGHT TO REFUND ALLIED WAR DEBTS

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Refunding of the $10,000,000 allied war debts to the United States must be settled before the soldier bonus bill can be enacted. Senator Penrose, chairman of the senate finance committee, declared Wednesday.

Accepting President Harding's suggestion in his message to the senate, that enactment of the bonus bill depends upon tax reduction, the refunding of the war debt, and the adjustment of foreign loans, Penrose called a meeting of the finance committee Wednesday to consider his bill giving Secretary Mellon broad powers in refunding the allied loans.

OFFERS $67 TO CAPTURE OF JAPANESE WARSHIP

Paterson, N. J.—The first American crew which captures or sinks a Japanese warship, in case of hostilities, will receive a prize of 5,000 German marks.

This was revealed today when the will of Charles Fritzsche, former Paterson engineer, who invented the locomotive tumbler, was received here from Germany. He went there before the war and was interned with his wife and daughter.

At the present rate of exchange 5,000 marks amounts to $67.

DRYS WANT BLAINE TO HOLD UP SALOON PERMITS

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee, Wis.—Letters of protest were sent today to Governor John J. Blaine and to the Milwaukee city council by the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, opposing the granting of license permits to soft drink dealers who were convicted during the last year of violating the prohibitory laws of the state.

Gov. Blaine is asked by the league to issue a proclamation declaring executive opposition to the practice and instruct the state prohibition commissioner to refuse permits to violators.

PACKERS TELL HOW MONEY WAS LOANED

By United Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill.—Officials of two large Chicago packing companies Wednesday told the Sagamon county grand jury what they knew about alleged juggling of $10,000,000 state funds while serving as state treasurers.

W. W. Sherman, assistant treasurer of Swift & Co. and Fred W. Crowell, treasurer of Armour & Co., were called before the investigators to present their company's side of the transaction whereby the packers obtained the huge loan.

The main questions to which Sherman and Crowell were understood to testify, were the amount of interest which their concern paid on the money and to whom it was paid. The state is supposed to have obtained only 2 per cent interest on the amount although the packers are said to have paid about 8 1/2 per cent for the money.

The grand jury will have to decide whether the persons or firms who got the additional 6 1/2 per cent were violating the statutes.

Officials of the Grand Park bank told the grand jury of the depositing of the amount in that institution which prosecuting officials claim existed only on paper. The loan to the packers was alleged to have been negotiated by the bank.

3 BILLIONS LOST
IN BUILDING TIIEUP

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Three billion dollars in wages was lost by building trades laborers during the last twelve months, because of the inactivity in construction work, Daniel Crawford, Jr., Philadelphia, told the National Association of Real Estate boards meeting here today.

The inflation which he said bankers permitted between the spring of 1919 and of 1920 was blamed for the tie up by Crawford.

"Not more than 25 percent of the $6,125,000,000 worth of building contemplated for this year will be started the speaker stated.

Laborers, he said, must consent to a wage reduction before the building industry can be fully revived.

Josiah Kirby, president of the Discount company of Cleveland said that although commodity prices would never reach the 1914 level, a "satisfactory deflation was taking place."

FAMOUS GOLFER BARRED FROM U. S. AS AN ALIEN

New York.—James M. Barnes, of New York, famous professional who represented the United States in the recent British open golf championship, was barred from re-entering this country today, under the new immigration laws.

Although Barnes has lived in the United States 16 years, he has only taken out his first citizenship papers and is still technically a British subject. He arrived here on the Mauretania.

The law under which Barnes was detained is that recently enacted by congress limiting immigration from any one country to three percent of its nationals already here. Barnes' friends immediately set to work to effect his release and it was believed this would be accomplished within a few hours.

POLICIES TAXABLE,
HIGH COURT RULES

Millions Will Be Collected Under Decision of State Supreme Court.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison, Wis.—Every insurance benefit is to be taxed by the Wisconsin supreme court here today in the case of estate of Charles Allis, Milwaukee, against the state, ruled that taxes must be paid on policies aggregating $30,000 left his wife as beneficiary.

This is one of the most important public policy decisions of the supreme court this year, and will result in the collection of millions of dollars into the state treasury.

Another decision today sustained the validity of the Nye law, passed in 1917, which defines that money spent by a city to purchase a utility, for which the city issues bonds, is not included in the 5 percent indebtedness allowed by the state constitution. This decision was made in regard to Portage, Wis.

This ruling opens the way for purchase of public utilities by cities without overrunning the constitutional indebtedness limit.

CHILD REPUDIATES
MURDER CONFESSION

By United Press Leased Wire
Dayton, Ohio.—Willie Stevenson, 9, on trial in juvenile court on charges of killing 8-year-old Henry B. Levine, fought with all of his boyish energy for freedom today.

Although Judge W. W. Baggett and police officers say Willie admitted to them when first arrested that he had killed his playmate the youthful prisoner vigorously denied the confession in open court today.

Two other boys who were said to have been with Willie when the Levine boy was killed, were held as witnesses. They are Vincent Hall and George Bayham, both nine years of age.

Henry and Willie quarreled. Willie is said to have struck Henry with an iron bar, breaking his neck. The four boys were at the edge of Bimmi's pond, planning to go swimming. They stripped Henry's clothes from his body, tied a rock to his hands and rolled him into the water, according to the authorities.

MOVIE MAGNATES PAID
$100,000 FOR SILENCE

By United Press Leased Wire
Boston, Mass.—David Stoneham, attorney described to the supreme court here today a conference of Boston and New York movie magnates, where it was decided the "cheapest and easiest way out" of the Mishawum Manor midnight party was to pay $100,000 to the "squeakers."

The conference held in New London, Conn., July 2, 1917, Hiram Abrams gave a check for $25,250, a note for $25,000 and 500 shares of the Famous Players-Lasky company, together with another note for $7,750, Stoneham declared. He said he brought the money to Boston.

The day following, Stoneham said, he called on Daniel H. Conkley a Boston attorney and gave him a personal check for $25,250, and Hiram Abrams note for $25,250.

This money, he said, was to be used to "settle any claims" growing out of the "Brownie-Kennedy Mishawum affair."

GOVERNOR PUTS NAME
ON BATCH OF NEW BILLS

Madison, Wis.—Nearly a score of bills were signed by Governor John J. Blaine Tuesday in an attempt to push along the legislative program and allow the sine die adjournment early this week.

Among the bills signed were the industrial rehabilitation measure, the bill appropriating $120,000 to the newly created division of markets, one allowing cities to accept the commission form of government, and the finance committee omnibus bill appropriating various sums to different state departments.

Bills allowing war veterans in public service leave of absence on Memorial day, and providing that the common council of cities of the second and third classes must each appoint two policemen, were also signed.

FOR KILLING FISH

Madison, Wis.—Alleged pollution of the Fox river, a tremendous stretch, and the killing of thousands of fish is the basis of a suit which will be brought against the Wisconsin Traction company of Appleton by the state conservation commission.

The maximum penalty is a one hundred dollar fine and three days in jail.

The sediment was dumped in the river when repairs were made on the gasholder here. Most of the substance was loaded on cars and hauled away.

MARKETING BILL
BECOMES LAW WITH
GOVERNOR'S NAME

Drastic Regulatory Powers Are Conferred to Marketing Commission.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison, Wis.—The marketing bill, creating the "Wisconsin marketing commission" with regulatory powers over agriculture, manufacturing, mining and industry, became a law today when Gov. John J. Blaine affixed his signature.

This will supersede the former "marketing division." The department will be separate from all other departments, responsible to the governor, and a commissioner at the head will have complete charge of its activities. The legal counsel of the department, an assistant attorney general, will be under the direction of the head of the department.

Powers of the new law are as follows:

- 1—Furnish market and trade information regarding price, supply, demand, and profits.
- 2—Assist cooperative associations, public markets, and the adoption of Wisconsin brands of commodities.
- 3—Standardization of food products and receptacles.
- 4—Penalization of unfair methods of competition, and unfair trade.

SENATORS WILL AIR
PACIFIC QUESTION

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—The "Pacific question" is to be fully aired in the conference of the powers projected by President Harding.

Within the next two weeks a number of senators intend to make speeches on the Pacific situation, as it involves the relations of the United States with other nations, the disarmament question and the peace of the world generally.

Senators Johnson, California and McCormick, Illinois, are prepared to speak at any time.

McCormick has gathered evidence concerning Japan's activities in Shanghai, the Chinese province taken over by Japan after it had been wrested from Germany during the war.

McCormick, Johnson and the others intended to discuss Shantung, the Pacific cable, the Russo-Japanese situation and the history of Japan's policies, particularly as bearing upon the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

RESERVE BOARD TARGET OF ORGANIZED FARMERS

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Attacks on the federal reserve board and D. R. Crissinger, comptroller of the currency, were made today by representatives of organized farmers.

Maurice McAuliffe, president of the Farmers Union of Kansas, told the congressional commission of agricultural inquiry that the assertion that Europe is wholly bankrupt constituted a propaganda by those interested in deflating farm prices. He charged that the deflation was deliberately designed and precipitated.

BLAINE APPOINTS ZONA
GALE ON LIBRARY BOARD

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison, Wis.—Zona Gale, noted author and playwright, Portage, Wis., and State Senator H. J. Severson, Waupaca county, were appointed members of the state library commission today by Governor John J. Blaine.

The board will meet soon to select a head of the legislative reference library, to succeed the late Dr. Charles McCarthy.

France Will Ask League to Defer Disarmament.

JAP OFFICIALS HESITATE

Britons Are Opposing Lloyd George as Their Delegate to Conference.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Official replies from Japan and Italy to President Harding's invitation to a disarmament conference were still lacking today. However government officials here were confident that both these powers would accept.

President Harding has started a movement which may develop a practical "association of nations" and replace the treaty of Versailles and the league of nations as the foundation for future international relations, according to belief here today.

A new treaty among the United States and the other four great powers, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, which later probably would be ratified by other nations, is expected to be worked out in the conference to assemble here within a few months.

This treaty would be principally an agreement for limitation and probably eventual reduction of staggering armaments.

Destroy Other Pacts

Such a treaty would also be expected to contain a number of broad policies for settlement of major questions of irritation, now mainly involved in the Pacific. The sense of these policies probably would be to guarantee the "open door" and equal opportunity not in the Pacific, but throughout the world. That policy has been the keynote of Secretary of State Hughes administration so far.

Agreement on this policy probably would abrogate as unnecessary existing pacts and agreements in the Far East, among them the Anglo-Japanese alliance, the Lansing-Ishii agreement recognizing Japan's "special position" in the east and the Root-Takahira agreement guaranteeing the "open door" in China.

Such a policy would naturally go hand in hand with disarmament as tending to remove the cause of war.

Want Discussion Deferred

Paris.—A motion to defer all action by the league of nations regarding disarmament until after the Washington conference will be made by the French delegates as soon as the league disarmament committee convenes here Saturday, it was learned today.

This action was interpreted in official circles as the most important move to emasculate the present league and mark time pending presentation of President Harding's ideas for an association of nations, inasmuch as disarmament is regarded as the league's most vital function.

Official confirmation has been obtained of the fact that Premier Briand probably will represent France in Washington.

Japs Are Hesitating

Tokio.—The Japanese foreign office in an interview today stated that the favorable attitude of the Japanese government toward the principle of disarmament, already announced several times by Baron Uchida, remains unchanged.

The government, however, is not ready as yet to make a direct statement regarding its position toward the Harding proposal.

The Japanese press, the commercial organizations and the public generally is favorable to Japan entering the conference but the political leaders are rather indefinite in their answers, wanting to know the scope of the conference before committing themselves.

Lloyd George Opposed

London.—Opposition to Premier Lloyd George as head of the British delegation to the Washington disarmament conference was growing today. The premier's political enemies were marshalling their forces to forestall him from assuming the leadership.

In well informed circles Arthur Balfour is being mentioned as possible choice of the British delegation.

BROTHER'S STORY

Cleveland, Ohio.—Mrs. Catherine Eva Kaber was carried out of the court room Wednesday when she collapsed during the testimony being given by her brother, Charles Brickel.

Brickel was asked if his mother had set fire to the Kabers home. He replied that his mother did not set fire to the house, that she was sick at the time and that "they could prove it."

Gas Plant Stokers Have Hottest Job In Appleton

Inquiring Reporter Finds Men Working in Temperature of 175 Degrees.

Every man in Appleton, as he fretted and fumed in his efforts to escape the sizzling heat, was convinced that his job and his office, shop or store was the hottest in Appleton. The coalless lawyer, with a fan circulating the air in his room, was sure there was no hotter place in Appleton; the hustling grocery clerk, with perspiration pouring off his brow as he hustled to said the ties burned their feet and that the iron bars on freight cars were so hot they had to use gloves in climbing up the side or in making a guess on the temperature of the railroad yards.

Another place where the temperature hovered close to 130 degrees and where the discomfort of workmen was increased by several inches of dust, was the street in front of the plants of the Appleton Manufacturing & Lumber Co., formerly the Webster planing mill, and the Appleton Hub wait on "trade," assured his boss and everybody else who cared to listen that "this was some hot job"; the mason, the painter, the carpenter all agree that theirs were the hottest jobs.

The reporter who was assigned to "find the hottest job in Appleton," as he trudged the blistering streets decided after walking two blocks that there wasn't any need to look further—his was the hottest job in the world.

He changed his mind, however, when he reached the gas plant of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. and visited the stoking ovens. Here was the hottest place in the city without a doubt. "While the rest of the city was sweating in a few more than 100 degrees the hardy stokers were smiling in temperatures of 175 degrees—only 37 degrees cooler than boiling water!"

Henry Wiltz, who was on duty from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m., was interviewed just as he came out of the ante-room of Hades. Perspiration was pouring off him but he still had enough pep left to tell the newshound about the hottest place in the city.

His work, which very few people could stand, appeared to agree with him, however, for he had the build of an athlete and in perfect condition physically. Elmer Rasemussen, who is on duty from 3 to 11 p. m., arrived as Mr. Wiltz was preparing to leave and came prepared for the heat. The men wear as little clothing as possible while at work.

140 Degrees on Section

"We used three barrels of water in cooling our tools," said M. Christensen, foreman of the Ashland division section crew, "and even then all the men blistered their hands." Mr. Christensen said his men were leveling the trucks at Appleton Junction and that they had no protection from the sun. He estimated the temperature at 140 degrees. This temperature was nothing new to him for he said he had worked on sections in Wyoming and Washington when it was still hotter in some of the deep cuts. Mr. Christensen has been in the employ of the Ashland division since the first of the year.

The Western Improvement Co. crew which is putting in the concrete foundation for asphalt pavement worked for a portion of Tuesday afternoon in a pocket of heat between the office of Fox River Paper Co. and the bridge on Prospect-st. A. J. Dessart, foreman, estimated the temperature at 130 degrees.

Jack Cleary and Frank Karwelick, members of a switching crew that does most of the switching for mills on the waterpower, said the hottest place they were aware of was at the east end of the railroad yards. They

HERBS USED IN MEDICINES

A Manchester, England, paper urges the renewed cultivation of old fashioned medicinal herbs in English gardens. In the United States they have also gone out of fashion as a feature of the small garden, although they are imported in large quantities from Turkey, India and China, where they are grown purely for commercial purposes, as their medicinal value is recognized by many leading physicians. Tons of medicinal herbs are used annually in the preparation of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most successful medicine for women's ills. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and women afflicted with such ailments should try it.

Watches, Knives and Money
Stolen—Chief Issues Warning to Bathers.

Elmer Kranssuech, 1025 Oneida-st., reported to the police Wednesday morning that a pearl handled knife and a watch valued at $40 were stolen from the pockets of his trousers while he was bathing in municipal pool Tuesday. Officers are working on the case.

This is only one of a series of complaints of theft of money and articles from the clothing of bathers. Another watch was stolen about three weeks ago and one bather said $9 was missing. Other smaller amounts and articles have disappeared. An effort has been made by the police to find the guilty persons, but the number using the pool is so large that their capture is difficult.

"People have no business carrying watches, money or valuables when they go to a public place of that kind," said Chief George T. Prim. "A lot

Residents of one entire block are said to have been without the service for more than two weeks. The other 97 per cent was returned to the various countries in the form of school and highway aid and for the support of prisons and reformatories. 2,000 HAVE FAILED TO REPORT INCOMES

Two thousand people in Outagamie co. have failed to file income tax reports for 1920 according to John A. Lonsdorf, assessor of incomes.

Most of those who have failed to file returns are mill workers and many of them have never been subject to the law until the last year, which accounts for their delinquency. Mr. Lonsdorf points out that these people are required to make returns whether they pay income tax or not. Even if their exemptions make them free from tax the law requires that they file a report if their earnings exceed a certain figure.

Returns were due not later than March 1. Blanks were sent the delinquent ones this week and if they do not report within a few days, steps will be taken to collect the tax.

AUTO LICENSE TOTAL PASSES 300,000 MARK

There are many people in Wisconsin who are not hit by the depression, or else the reduction in automobile prices has stimulated auto sales. This is indicated by the number of licenses issued by the secretary of state recently. The total now has passed the three-hundred thousand mark, as indicated by plates in transmission through the mail the last few days. The number of licenses in Wisconsin is said to be increasing at a rapid rate.

FAMILY ABANDONER IS SENT TO REFORMATORY

For failure to support his family, Harold Woolworth of Appleton was sentenced to 18 months in the state reformatory by Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Tuesday morning.

On complaint of his wife, Woolworth was arrested early in June but was placed on parole when he agreed to do better in the future. He agreed to pay $7 per week toward the support of his family. Recently he broke the parole by leaving the state without permission so the sentence originally meted out became effective and he was apprehended by the police department.

WATER SMELLS BAD BUT IT IS PERFECTLY PURE

The present odor of water furnished patrons of the waterworks department is the same harmless odor of previous years, the only difference being that it has made its appearance a month earlier than other years. It is due to a vegetable oil that makes its appearance in the water in hot weather and can be removed only by aeration which requires a special equipment. The water is as pure as at any other time of the year and can be used for drinking or cooking with perfect safety. The only process found for eliminating the odor is by elevating the water to a certain height and permitting it to fall in a spray.

PRESIDENT IS RIGHT

The decision of the administration, that is of President Harding and Secretary Mellon, to postpone enactment of a soldiers' bonus bill at this time will, we think, have the approval of the country. Upon sober reflection we think it will also have the approval of the ex-service men themselves. Secretary Mellon's letter on the subject outlined a situation which compels serious attention both by the country and by the congress. He estimates that the payment of bonuses would call for an expenditure of at least $3,300,000,000, while the total might run as high as $5,250,000,000. When we consider the fact that the whole amount paid in pensions for wars from 1790 to 1917, inclusive was approximately this sum, or $5,245,525,780, we get an idea of the financial proportions of the bonus. It should also be added that Mr. Mellon's estimate takes, to use his own language, "no account of expenses of administration or possible costs of affording vocational training, farm or home aid, or land settlement aid to veterans who elect such benefits." Finally the secretary points out that the government faces early maturities of public debts amounting to about $7,500,000,000, of which $5,000,000,000 fall in the same fiscal year in which it is proposed to begin cash payment under the bonus bill.

It is Mr. Mellon's contention, and he is supported in it by President Harding, that the passage of the soldiers' bonus bill at this time would "defeat the administration's program of economy and retrenchment." President Harding in his personal visit to the capital and conference with senators, made an appeal for deferment of the legislation until revenue and tariff bills are out of the way and the condition of the treasury may be definitely known. Yesterday in his address to the senate he declared that the bonus appropriation at this time "would greatly imperil the financial stability of our country." His idea is that any financial aid extended to the soldiers for the present should be limited to prompt relief to the disabled and suffering.

We think, in view of the serious fiscal situation in which the government finds itself, and the inability or disinclination of congress thus far to cause any retrenchment in federal appropriations, as well as the apparent impossibility of lowering taxes, the administration has taken a sensible course. There can be no question but what the country is favorable to the payment of bonuses to the men who served in the World war, but it should be born in mind that this is not an emergency measure and that the president is only asking for postponement. Measures for the immediate relief of veterans who have been neglected are being pushed through by the administration and funds and authority under them will doubtless be available in a very short time. The bonus proposition is entirely different and if cannot be said that its deferment will inflict any serious hardship upon those it is intended to reward.

The administration's great task of the moment is to put the country on a sound financial basis and to encourage a return to normal business conditions. The people are demanding economy and efficiency, together with a reduction in the heavy burdens of taxation. The present government was elected on a specific promise to put these policies into effect. It will be impossible to carry out the pledges if the soldiers' bonus act is passed at this time. We think the president's request that action be postponed until the financial condition of the government is clarified and until measures essential to reconstruction are disposed of is reasonable and proper. It will be a hard change in program for some senators to accept, particularly those who are about to come up for reelection and who are trying to put this measure through with all possible speed for its political effect. Indeed the political influences are so strong in the senate it may be impossible to delay action, but the president is right, nevertheless, and the country will take its stand with him.

FOCH TO VISIT AMERICA

Marshal Foch's visit to this country within a few months promises to be a historic event of the first importance. It will be surprising if the greatest of modern soldiers and one of the greatest of all time, is not received with demonstrations of affection and enthusiasm, without precedent in this or any other country.

It is quite fitting that this should be so. Whatever question there may be as to which of the allied nations contributed most to Germany's defeat, there is no question as to what individual carried the heaviest burden of responsibility and acquitted himself with as great credit and honor as any other. That man was Foch.

In honoring Marshal Foch, for himself and for the nation he represents, the people of America will also be honoring themselves.

MR. HAYS AND THE POSTOFFICE

When Will H. Hays, who so successfully ran President Harding's campaign, was appointed postmaster-general, there was some criticism to the effect that it being openly a political reward, there might be question as to whether the affairs of the department would be administered with any greater efficiency than they had been under the notoriously weak direction of Mr. Burleson. Mr. Hays, however, has given constant evidence of his efficiency and of an evident desire to serve the people as well as the postoffice itself in a creditable manner.

Recently it was announced that he would undertake the organization of a welfare department for postal employees. This project has just been put into effect and he has secured the services of a prominent insurance executive of New York to handle the general policies of the bureau without pay.

There are 300,000 employees in the department and it is no reflection on other government employees to say that taken as a whole they are the hardest worked and most loyal men and women in the federal service. They have never received the consideration that they have deserved either in wages or working conditions.

It speaks well for the intelligence and fairness of the new postmaster general that he not only appreciates their situation but that he is translating this appreciation into terms of practical relief. The welfare department may be a small beginning but it is in such contrast to the government's previous attitude of demanding everything and giving nothing that it deserves the commendation of the public.

PROSPERITY STRAWS

It has been said repeatedly that not more than 20 per cent of the country's business is export business. George M. Reynolds, the great Chicago banker, reduces the total materially, stating that 98 per cent of American business is domestic and only 7 per cent foreign. This means, logically, that we could, all along the line, produce at least 90 per cent of our normal capacity without selling a dollar's worth outside the country.

The department of agriculture now forecasts a combined winter and spring wheat crop of 830,000,000 bushels. Prices are lower but there will be 43,000,000 bushels more than last year. The matter of savings deposits is equally significant. Last Christmas there were some $2,800,000,000 of savings bank deposits. Though many have been out of work the report for the quarter just ended shows these now total almost $3,000,000,000, a new high mark.

All of which indicates that America is still fundamentally prosperous and that instead of bemoaning the temporary results of deflation it should be active and happy. Despite declines in prices crops in the main promise to be larger than ever before and the increase in savings show that millions have practiced thrift and thus added to their buying power. Good crops and the bank account of the plain people are the surest basis for good times. Business improvement ought to be noticeable from this time on.

Bronchitis From Sinusitis.

Old Doctor Bunker's "Letters of a Simple" read biographical work "Letters of a Simple" have familiarized the public with the situation of the bronchial tubes and the very profitable delusion that these tubes are somehow susceptible to all varieties of season, climate and weather. But very few people know what a sinus is. In the first place it requires fair intelligence to comprehend that there is such a thing as a sinus in the human body—and so Dr. Bunker never mentioned it in his almanac. Say what you will of the business of separating a lump from his change by the facie process of sugaring a bunch of symptoms for him and then giving him a "guarantee" to cure, there's no denying that the Bunkers know their clientele.

In every case of chronic or long enduring cough, especially when there is considerable expectation of mornings, the first thing to do is find out whether the trouble is tuberculosis—which can be determined only by careful, perhaps many repeated examinations of the chest with all clothing removed to the waist. To avoid the finding of tubercle bacilli in the sputum is to procrastinate unwisely, for lung tuberculosis should be diagnosed long before the germs can be found, in a great many cases.

The next thing to do, if tuberculosis is positively excluded, is find out the state of the accessory sinuses of the nose. I am speaking now of chronic bronchitis, long enduring cough. There are four pairs of sinuses or air-spaces in the skull communicating with the nasal cavity and lined with mucous membrane like the lining of the nasal cavity and subject to similar inflammations and infections of that membrane. Any so-called "head cold" which fails to clear up completely within two weeks is probably prolonged by a complicating infection of one of these sinuses; particularly when the attack is accompanied by pronounced headaches or "neuralgia," or when there is a periodic excessive nasal discharge in the course of the trouble.

Many French soldiers who were supposed to have tuberculosis were found, on careful examination, to have cough and bronchitis from a sinus infection. Most of them got well soon after the sinus infection was remedied.

Children with trouble in the nose, sinuses or adenoid region are pretty sure to have more or less cough and are often unsuccessfully treated for bronchitis without regard for the real origin of the trouble. Every child with a persistent cough should be given a careful nose and throat examination and proper treatment for abnormal conditions found there.

In some cases of chronic bronchitis and cough found to be dependent on nasal sinus infections, the patients declare they have had no nasal discharge, no head pain and no other symptom pointing toward nasal trouble. Yet discovery of the sinus infection and its treatment brings relief.

Victims of chronic bronchitis need waste no time looking in bottles or boxes for possible cure. Nor need they chase the will-o-the-wisp climate, so far as any question of cure is concerned. But they do need careful medical examinations and study to seek the origin of their trouble.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Old Lady Thirty-one.

I am a woman 31 years old. I am expecting to get married. Can I have children at my age and would they be healthy? (E. O. A.)

Answer—From age 30 to age 40 a woman is at her best physically.

The Candy Medicine.

Please tell me the name of the rhubarb medicine which you have advised to take the place of castor oil. (Miss B. E.)

Answer—Aromatic syrup of rhubarb. It was formerly called spiced syrup of rhubarb. It is given in the same doses and for the same purposes as the irritating, nauseating and wholly unnecessary castor oil. Children call this the "candy medicine." Some doctors still insist on castor oil, for the same reason I fancy, that some young persons wear horn specs.

Sloughing a Pore Plaster.

Appreciating your sound and entertaining department, I want to ask what is the best method of removing a porous plaster from the back after it has fulfilled its function. For many more years than you are old I have resorted to the old-time scheme of holding my breath, grunting my teeth and taking a firm hold upon something substantial while a muscular friend subject the plaster to a quick, sharp pull. But this process is more or less conducive to scriptural quotation unbecoming a gentleman. I would like to know if there is not a better way. (H. P. A.)

Answer—Soaking the plaster first by mopping on oil of wintergreen will diminish the agony. Or start on corner loose, then keep wiping the skin away from the plaster with pledgets of absorbent cotton moistened with gasoline. The only real effect of such a plaster is to support, a splint effect. The same effect is produced by the application of ordinary zinc oxide adhesive plaster, with less skin irritation. The porous plaster is a relic of the grand old days before the first bathtub (which was introduced into this country in 1842) when belly bands, chest protectors, kidney pads and red flannel shirts were all the rage, and cautious folks had their underclothes sewed on for the winter.

The White House China

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington.—China used by the Presidents—from a Canton porcelain plate belonging to George Washington down to pieces of the Wilson state dining set. This set is now on exhibit in the White House.

A room in the Executive Mansion off the ground floor corridor has been set aside as a collection room and fitted with colonial cabinets. Here, on shelves lined with ivory colored velvet, are 236 pieces of historic glass, silverware, and china—souvenirs of every President.

dent up to Mr. Harding, with the one exception of Andrew Johnson. As President Johnson is known to have duplicated the Lincoln china for his use, he may be said in a way to be represented by some of the Lincoln souvenirs.

It is too soon for the present executive and his wife to add their contribution to the porcelain hall of fame. Mrs. Harding has not yet selected any china for the White House. Every President's wife buys small sets of china or odd pieces for family use, but it is not likely that a new state set will be needed for several years any.

fore that only in 1918. The set used before that was bought in 1903 by Mrs. Roosevelt and contained about 1,500 pieces. It stood 15 years hard service, but White House china like any other, gets chipped and sets are broken.

Mrs. Wilson had seen an exhibit of American-made china and determined to order from a New Jersey pottery. Several President's wives before this had thought it would be a democratic thing to buy homemade china, but nothing comparable to the well known foreign makes could be found. That America has finally been able to produce china that is at no disadvantage beside Haviland, Wedgwood, Sevres, and Canton is shown by the Wilson set which was made by Lenox at Trenton, N. J., a number of samples of which stand near the foreign makes in the White House collection room.

The Wilson set replaced the Roosevelt china in wartime, when little formal entertaining was being done. Later, Mr. Wilson's illness made big White House dinners impossible; so that the set is still practically new.

Collecting the Old China

Finding authentic souvenirs from the table of every President has been no easy task. It was not even easy to identify the china in the White House.

The work was begun in 1903, when Mrs. Abby Gunn Baker, who has for some years been interested in historic Washington, began to catalogue the White House ware.

Up to that time, the old punch bowls, platters, and other antiques in the White House closets were but vaguely associated with the past Presidents. In some instances, the history of a valuable piece was not remembered or recorded at all. When stock was taken, it was found that a number of the administrations had left no souvenirs of their tableware.

Mrs. Baker found china of only seven dining sets—those of Lincoln and later Presidents. Apparently old White House china had not been regarded with any eye to its historic importance.

President Washington set a precedent in this connection when he held a sale on moving from the Executive Mansion in New York to Philadelphia. All the furniture and china that in his estimation were "decayed" were sold at auction. After that, White House sales of broken lots of china and of damaged ware were customary. Second-hand dealers were the chief attendants at these sales. That things sold cheap is attested to by such stories as the one that a cracked Lincoln pitcher sold for $2.50.

Gradually, antique dealers saw possibilities in White House china, and in the copying of it. So many stores in Washington were selling "authentic" White House plates by Mrs. Roosevelt's time, that she put a stop to the White House china sales.

The design of the Roosevelt state dining set was patented, so that it could not, like other historic sets, be copied in cheap ware for general sale. This copying became a nuisance.

This copying became a nuisance, and the most elaborate dinner set ever made for the White House was designed. This was a pictorial set, each piece bearing a scene, or some animal, bird or fish. The idea was of every state. The china was of a beautiful quality and the designs were artistic, but when they were copied in cheap china and sold, the Hayes dishes lost the individuality which was their main charm.

With White House china designs so much copied that many people owned articles they honestly thought genuine; with the historic White House china scattered to the ends of the country by sales, and with no systematic records kept of the articles left in the Executive Mansion, you can see how making a collection of china used by the Presidents could easily take 18 years.

Luckily, presidential souvenirs have been treasured in the families of the Presidents, and their descendants have been generous in turning over some of their relics to the Government. It may be said that nothing has been, or will be, bought for the china collection. Everything that was not taken from White House cabinets and china closets has been donated or loaned.

Descendants of every President, except those of President Johnson who cannot be located, have been consulted by Mrs. Baker, and they have identified as authentic the pieces of china representing their ancestors.

Interest of Presidents' Wives

The mistresses of the White House of late years have been star to see the china collection established. As far back as Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Harrison, a cabinet to hold historic White House china was talked of. Finally, Mrs. Roosevelt started the collection and had two cabinets made and placed in a corridor for the first exhibits. At the same time she asked Mrs. Baker to select the most worthy souvenirs in the White House and to catalogue them. The first Mrs. Wilson planned a special room for the presidential china exhibit. It remained for the second Mrs. Wilson actually to have the room prepared and to install the collection which by that time had become really impressive.

The china of the Presidents is perhaps more a souvenir of the first ladies of the land than of their husbands. From the home-loving Martha Washington all down the line, the china closet has been largely the pride of the feminine occupants of the mansion. Often its contents represented their tastes rather than those of their husbands. There is in the collection, for instance, one of the Harrison plates with its ornate and goldenrod decoration reminiscent of Mrs. Harrison's love for goldenrod and her desire that it should become the national flower.

On the other hand, there is a Cincinnati plate of the Washingtons' which is certainly reminiscent of the General, and of his founding of the Order of the Cincinnati. In his time it was a popular custom to use all sorts of insignia on articles of personal use, and Washington had a dining set made with the figure of Justice bearing the badge of the Cincinnati as its design.

Both Washington and Jefferson sent to Paris to obtain such things as ornaments and silverware. Washington's friend, Gouverneur Morris, suggests in a letter that the President may think him extravagant for his purchases. His excuse was: "I think it of great importance to fix the taste of the country properly, and I think your example will go very far in that respect."

A Prize Piece

One of the most interesting objects in the china collection is a fruit dish which has long been in the White House and is now identified as one of the Madison dishes, very probably one saved by the level-headed Madame Dolly when the Capital was attacked by the British.

The dish is very elaborate. It is set on a pedestal formed by figures of the three graces. The decorations in blue and gold match exactly those on the Madison table china. An employee of the White House has been saving the dish since in Lincoln's time. Later it disappeared, and Mrs. Harrison found it in the attic in three pieces and had it neatly repaired.

The identity and historic associations connected with each article in the china collection has been arranged on a series of cards by Mrs. Baker, Colonel Sherrill, superintendent of buildings and grounds, the official custodian of the White House china, plans to post the cards on a revolving catalogue case in the center of the exhibit room so that visitors can conveniently study the historic china of the Presidents.

Q. What is the lightest gas known? F. O. C.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that hydrogen occurs in the atmosphere to some extent. This is the lightest gas known. The second lightest gas, helium, also occurs in small amounts. Nitrogen is the lightest gas occurring in sufficient quantity to materially effect the density of the air.

Q. Are there any labor adjustment boards now similar to those established by the United States Railroad Administration? S. E.

A. The Transportation Act of 1920 provided for the establishment of adjustment boards by agreement between railroad management and railway workers. To date, however, none has been established, the railway men leaving national boards also if any are created.

Q. Why does ice float on water? D. M. S.

A. The density of ice is less than that of water, and for this reason it floats.

Q. What can be done to a person who marks an unpatented article "patented"? W. A. G.

A. A person so marking an article is liable to a penalty of not less than $100 and costs, to be recovered in a qui tam action, half of the amount going to the informant and half to the government.

Q. How many eggs does an oyster lay? H. T. T.

A. An average oyster produces about 16,000,000 eggs, a very large oyster sometimes producing 60,000,000.

Q. Why is Dante's "Divine Comedy" called a "comedy"? O. M. Y.

A. The word "comedy" as here used is the English equivalent of the Italian "comedia" which means a play or drama.

Q. How long did Benjamin Franklin attend school? F. W.

A. Two years between the ages of 8 and 10 was all the time that Benjamin Franklin attended school.

NOTICE!

(Information to the Public in general)

Whereas we have been continuously probed with questions concerning the controversy between the carpenters and Association-contractors, we wish to inform the public that the scale of wages of building crafts for this year already settled is as follows: Plumbers, $1.00 per hour. Tinner, 75c per hour. Painters, 75c per hour. Shop Carpenters, 60c to 75c per hour. Masons settled as far as wages are concerned, $1.00 per hour. Now is 80c per hour too much for outside carpenters who furnish their own tools and considering lost time throughout the year?

If you want carpenter work done, Telephone 1551 or 2081. All our carpenters are covered by compensation insurance. We will supply you with competent carpenters at 85c per hour.

THE BOOK OF MARTHA

Idleness and Flirtation

I used to think that Martha could be trusted to take care of herself; or perhaps I loved Martha so much that I would have approved of her under all conditions. I did not see that our precious Jimmy-boy was not getting well.

I felt sure that Martha could be trusted to take care of herself; or perhaps I loved Martha so much that I would have approved of her under all conditions. I did not see that our precious Jimmy-boy was not getting well.

There had been an operation. Jim was home from the hospital very weak and depressed and asking for his wife every hour of the day. Simply because he had been brought home, Ann was sure that her husband was improving.

I could have shaken the silly babe. She was too shallow, too frivolous, too frivolous to perceive the truth, and she was not to be told it. Dr. Marshall and Daddy Lorimer had agreed. Also they agreed that Ann should be spared the knowledge that she was responsible for the hurt to her husband which would result in his death.

It became my duty to keep Ann within call of Jim's sickroom. When she should have been with Jimmy, she was searching the shops for the "first showings."

To keep her with Jim, I invented a game. It induced her to parade, like a mannequin, for Jim's delight. It was a weird and tragic spectacle, perhaps the queerest method ever devised to hold the attention of one who was about to die.

My plan wasn't altogether successful. I discovered that Ann did not care about her finery for its own sake nor to interest Jim. Why? The answer was too obvious. She wished only to attract the attention of Paul Van Eyck!

Ann must be cured. Again I urged Dr. Marshall and Daddy Lorimer to talk to her. They refused. She was too hysterical, they said; we would have two invalids on our hands instead of one, they insisted. The old men were obdurate. I went away in great indignation.

I possessed another hard truth. Mistress Ann ought to have, and I determined to hand it to her.

Drawings made from actual photographs of rubber magnified 200 times

Ordinary tire rubber
The white areas are "lumps" of unevenly mixed substances. Every "lump" is a weak spot that reduces mileage.

Crolide Compound Rubber
—has no large "lumps." Notice how finely divided the particles are. This even texture is what makes Thermoid Tires wear so long.

"It's a really big step forward in tire-making"

What one dealer told a customer

"I'll tell you why I'm selling you this tire. It's because I consider it a really big step forward in tire-making."

"It's just this way. If you look at an ordinary tire, you'd say the rubber was one solid, even mass. But it isn't. It's full of millions of 'lumps'—'lumps' so small you can't see them with the naked eye. These 'lumps' are formed when the rubber is 'compounded,' that is, when the strengthening materials are mixed in with the pure rubber gum. Every 'lump' is of course a weak spot in the tire."

"This was discovered only recently by the Thermoid Rubber Company experts. Knowing what was the trouble with ordinary tire rubber, these men went ahead and developed a new rubber compound. This new compound is Crolide. It almost entirely does away with 'lumpy' formations."

Crolide Compound is to-day used exclusively in the manufacture of Thermoid Tires, Cord and Fabric.

We have compared the Thermoid Tire carefully, point by point, with other tires on the market to-day, and we confidently believe that no other tire compares with it for service and durability.

You are invited to call and see these new tires for yourself—also the famous Crolide Compound Tubes.

DR. PLANTZ HEADS UNIQUE BUREAU OF PUBLIC SPEAKERS

Prominent Appleton People Will Aid New Movement to Develop Discussion.

Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence college, is chairman of a new state organization called the Commonwealth Union of Wisconsin, which is to do a unique service in promoting public discussion and educating the people on local, state and national problems. The union recently was formed at Milwaukee under the auspices of the Milwaukee City club, and is expected to begin functioning next fall.

Dr. Plantz and nine other prominent Appleton persons are included on the list of speakers. They are Dr. A. A. Trever, Dr. H. E. Peabody, Dr. D. O. Kinsman, Lee C. Rasey, Dr. Wilson S. Naylor, H. C. Cooley, Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, Francis M. Ingley and Judson G. Rosebush. Other speakers well known here are W. H. Hutton, New London; M. K. Reilly, former congressman, Fond du Lac; William Doll, University of Wisconsin, formerly a student of Lawrence college; Dr. G. K. MacInnis, Green Bay; and Bishop R. H. Weller, Fond du Lac.

All speakers have agreed to render service for traveling expenses only. Clubs or societies desiring to have them come are permitted to communicate direct with the speaker they want and arrange for a date. The union has issued a booklet containing a declaration of principles and a classified list of talks, with names of speakers. Prominent educators, business and professional people from all parts of Wisconsin are included. Typical subdivisions include American institutions, American problems, citizenship, Americanization, education, public health, government, foreign relations, city government, woman's civic duties, sociology, agriculture, forestry, business, industrial problems and miscellaneous topics.

Dr. Plantz is chairman of the temporary organization and M. S. Dudgeon, Milwaukee, public librarian of Wisconsin, secretary. Members of the committee on speakers are Henry C. Campbell, associate editor of the Milwaukee Journal, chairman; Mrs. John M. Whitehead, Janesville; A. W. Hopkins, college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin; Prof. William H. Lighty, University of Wisconsin, and Mr. Dudgeon.

Promotion of public discussion throughout the state in impartial, informative manner is among the important public questions is given as the purpose of the union. It will make available to every club or society the services at lowest possible cost of Wisconsin men or women who are competent and willing to discuss, on a basis of fact, questions of general interest. Noted men and women will make tours of the state from time to time. These people also write articles on questions of current interest and importance for publication in the press.

Organization of discussion groups in every community will be fostered. They will be representative organizations of citizens such as do not exist now. Provision for halls suitable for public use will be urged in all buildings such as schools, libraries, court-houses, town, village and city halls. These are to be supplied in all communities as fast as new public buildings are being planned. The plan of the union is somewhat similar to that of the people's forum conducted here last winter.

Under the heading of American problems Dr. Plantz speaks on "Causes of our Social Unrest," Dr. Trever on "The Japanese Problem in the United States," Dr. Peabody on "Internationalism," Mr. Reilly on "Bolshevism," W. H. Hutton on "America, the Poor Boy's Country."

Dr. Kinsman's lecture under the citizenship group is "The New Citizen." Mr. Rasey, "Reaping Whirlwinds; the Dangers of Indifferent Citizenship." Mr. Hutton, "Our Government and What it Means."

In the educational group Dr. Naylor is listed for the topic, "Practical Value of Education." Mr. Hutton, "Some Ideas on Education," Mr. Cooley, "Religious Education."

Mr. Doll speaks on "Stepping Stones to Health" in the public health group. Government topics include "Good Government and Law Enforcement," Dr. MacInnis, "Government and Business," M. K. Reilly, "Why Socialism Will Not Work," Dr. Plantz, Foreign relations; "America and the New World," by Dr. Naylor; "Economic Imperialism," Dr. Trever. Woman's civic duties; "The Challenge of the New Age to Woman," by Mrs. D. O. Kinsman. Sociology; "Present Social Ten-

Kenosha, Wis. — After killing his brother and chasing the latter's wife around the house, firing two shots at her which missed, Herman Morrone, 31 years old, sat quietly down on the porch on Sunday and waited for the arrival of the police. EXILED KAISER SHOWS SIGNS OF RAPID AGING

Special to Post-Crescent
Copenhagen.—Frederick Poulsen, a physician, has a letter from a Dutch professor who describes a visit to the former kaiser in exile in Dorn.

The former emperor has aged considerably, the letter says. His hair and beard are snow white. He speaks nervously and his eyes have a restless expression.

Speaking of the German revolution the former emperor declared that "the splendid German soldiers" would never have revolted had they not been subjected to "some low influence." The ex-kaiser seemed intensely interested in revolutionary movements in all parts of the world.

If You Want More Bodily and Mental Vigor
Try Me I Only Require One Minute
of your time each day. I have helped give thousands of weak, run-down, nervous folks, increased strength and endurance, in two weeks' time, in many instances.

I am not a doctor but PHYSICIANS HAVE OFTEN ADVISED PEOPLE TO TRY ME. Former UNITED STATES SENATORS, United States Army Generals, Judges of U. S. Courts and many well known people have availed themselves of my help.

STRONG MEN, ATHLETES, BRAIN WORKERS—they know what I can do when they want the "stay there" strength and endurance that wins.

WOMEN WHO ARE WEAK, nervous and irritable as a result of overwork, worry or household drudgery have often obtained most surprising relief from me.

When, as a result of iron starvation, you get up feeling tired in the morning when you can no longer do your day's work without being all fagged out at night; when your digestion all goes wrong, or you have pains across the back and your face looks pale and drawn, do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration or until in your weakened condition you contract some serious disease, but try me. I only take one minute of your time each day. I am NUXATED IRON—organic iron. I am like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. I help make strong, forceful, red blooded men and beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked women. Without iron like me, your blood becomes pale, thin and watery and loses its power to change food into living tissue, therefore nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good—you do not get the full strength out of it. To prove to yourself what I can do get your doctor to take a specimen of your blood and make a "blood count" of your red blood corpuscles, then try me for one month and have a new "blood count" made and see how your red blood corpuscles have increased and how much stronger and better you feel; how the "color" has come back to your face and how much stronger and more steady your nervous system is. I will not injure your teeth nor disturb your stomach. You need not lose a cent on me. If I do not give you satisfactory results my manufacturer will refund your money. Get only me. Beware of imitations. I come in tablets only never in liquid form—Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet—and the word "Nuxated" on every package. Sold at all druggists.

The Hank Schultz who will climb on the hill at Edison park in New London next Sunday will be a different Hank Schultz from the one whose temper went a long way toward losing a ball game in Oshkosh last Sunday. Hank will be continued on the Brandt payroll on his promise to be a good boy hereafter. Owner August Brandt and Manager Mike Murphy announced after a long conference with the big pitcher that the latter has seen the error of his ways and will endeavor to put more heart into his work, even if the going is hard, hereafter.

Plans all over the circuit know that Hank Schultz is as good a pitcher as there is in semi-pro baseball when he is going good. He has a fast breaking spitter, excellent control and knows the game but he is too prone to get sore. That is his only fault as a hurler and he has promised to keep his temper in check.

Schultz probably has learned his lesson and the Brandts have good reason to expect high class pitching hereafter. His teammates have all kinds of confidence in him when he is working hard and give him excellent support. Brandt and Murphy have promised to give Appleton a real base ball team and intend to do so. They believe Schultz can deliver the goods and want to give him another chance. They are asking local fans to do the same thing—give him another chance to show that he is a real pitcher.

Sport Views And News

When Fred Bushey severed his connection with Bushy Business league to take a new position at Menasha, amateur athletes lost one of its most ardent supporters. It is more than probable that Mr. Bushey will retain his interest in sports but he will not devote so much time to furthering athletics as he has in the past. There are few men in Wisconsin better known as developers of basketball teams than Mr. Bushey. Fred has been in the game about twenty years and has turned out some wonderful teams. He is known all over the middlewest as one of the best basketball teachers in the country. Fred expects to keep an eagle eye on the game, but will not take an active part in it.

Another one of John Bull's prides has but the dust before an American athlete. This time out it was Jim Higgins, a bantamweight who has been sweeping all before him in the British Isles. Peter Herman, who appears to be staging quite a comeback, but the skids under the tea drinker in the eighth round of a scheduled twenty-round bout. Herman had the upper hand all the way and the Englishman was cut to ribbons by the time he ran into the knockout punch.

So Georges Carpentier has signed up to fight for Tex Rickard again. The bout will be staged during the second week in October, but as yet the Frenchman's opponent has not been named. Descamps has agreed to let his man fight against Rickard's local and Tex is to pick the foe within a two weeks' period. It looks to us as if Johnny Wilson or Tommy Gibbons were the best of the lot to take a crack at the idol of Paris. Either of them would give Carpentier quite an argument.

The Black and White Sox exchanged greetings in a Chicago courtroom the other day. This is the first time they have rubbed shoulders in public since the lid blew off on the baseball scandal last summer. Gleason, Collins and some of the others had been summoned by the indicted players to give testimony in the case. It is said that Happy Felsch told Gleason that he hoped the Sox would win the pennant and that Gleason returned the remark by wishing the gang good luck in their trial. We wonder if they both meant what they said.

The usual summer baseball gloom is again sweeping Gotham. The New York fans after having visions of a world series all of their own, have woken up to the fact that pre-season predictions don't put teams in pennantville.

TENDLER KNOWS NOTHING OF MATCH WITH LEONARD

Philadelphia.—If Lew Tandler, local lightweight star, and Champion Benny Leonard of New York are to appear in one of three title bouts Tex Rickard plans for the mammoth amphitheater on Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, there is no one in Philadelphia who knows anything about such a match. Rickard may have that contest in mind, all right, but up until the present time he has made no effort to sign Tandler.

"I know nothing of a match with Leonard," said Phil Glassman, Tandler's manager, on Tuesday. "The last time I saw and spoke to Rickard was more than six months ago, when we were unable to reach a favorable agreement on several matches at Madison Square garden. If he really intends to match Tandler with Leonard, it is news to me."

Highest Honor In U.S. Golf Is At Stake

Washington.—The highest honor in American golf is at stake when golfers from all over the world gather on July 19, 20 and 21, at the fashionable Columbia Country Club, at Chevy Chase, Maryland near Washington to battle for the U. S. Open Championship.

This year's meet, the 25th annual affair is expected to be one of the most spectacular in years. And several outstanding factors indicate that expectations will run more than true. Keen Competition For instance at present an Englishman, Ted Ray is holder of the coveted American golf honor. And at the same time an American, Jock Hutchinson is holder of the English Open Championship.

These two cracks will be on hand at Columbia—Ray to defend his title, and Hutchinson to attempt to "ring in" with first honors in order to represent America with the world's golf honor.

If Hutchinson caps both the English and American titles will rest on American shoulders. If Ray hangs on to his title he will have in opportunity to become world champ next season when the English championship will have its annual session.

Mack Is An Optimist

And now Connie Mack Expresses absolute confidence that his Athletics will be up there and fighting for the top position in the 1922 baseball race in the American league.

Perhaps this will cause many fans to smile. "What do you mean the lowly Athletics up in first division?" You have got to have a keen appreciation of the ability to patiently wait—and plug—and smile—in order to see where Connie is not talking through his hat.

Early this season the Athletics—all youngsters—looked poor, on paper. They hadn't the experience. They were greenies. Connie knew this as well as any body.

So he is devoting this season to taking the greenness out of his kids. The baseball they are playing in the second half of the season is a big percentage better than that of the first half.

Next season the crew will have been thoroughly trained in playing together. Every man will have had an education in big league circles. There will be no old timers, ready for the minor leagues. Instead, all newcomers.

Doesn't it sound like there was something to Connie's chatter.

DE VALERA'S MOTHER WANTS A FREE IRELAND

By United Press Leased Wire. Rochester, N. Y.—Eamonn De Valera will not be so "imprudent" as to accept anything but "absolute freedom" for Ireland, in the Irish peace negotiations, according to the belief expressed today by his mother, Mrs. Catherine Wheelwright. "I do not believe my son or those season when the English championship will have its annual session.

Both Know Course At the offset there appears to be no advantage held by either man. Both Ray and Jock have played the Columbia course and are well acquainted with its bunkers traps, greens and fairways.

Last year, when Ray, after winning the U. S. title at Inverness Club in Toledo, O. toured America and played on 80 golf courses, he pronounced the Columbia course prize of them all.

Should Hutchinson be off form and fail to carry away honors, America will still have dangerous stars in the field in Chuck Evans, Bobby Jones, Louie Diegle, Jim Barnes and many others.

Elaborate Plans Elaborate arrangements are being made at Columbia. The course covers 136 acres of rolling country and 11 of the 18 holes have natural brook hazards.

President Harding, who dedicated the fifth hole of the Columbia course, will present the capital prize to the winner, on the final day.

A series of right and left hooks to the body and face ended the bout. Moran was in poor condition but he had the soldier in danger in several of the early rounds when he succeeded in landing with heavy rights.

JOHNNY BULL HAS CHANCE TO GET EVEN

Britain Sends Crack Track Men and Golfers Into American Meets.

By United Press Leased Wire. New York.—Although the international polo cup and the British open golf cup slipped off England's soil, John Bull will get a chance to even matters up a little in the next two weeks.

A band of British invaders arrived today when the crack teams of Cambridge and Oxford landed from the Olympic to engage in the combined teams of Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Cornell.

These track athletes rank among the best England possesses and the seventeen collegians on the combined teams may give the Americans a stiff argument.

Ten events are on the program in each meet and the British scoring system will be used. The winner will get a point.

The team shown by George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, the two British golf professionals here for an exhibition tour, when they beat Jock Hutchinson and Tommy Kerrigan in the match that finished yesterday indicates that both will be strong contenders in the American open championship next week in Washington.

Britain walked off with the American title last year and if Mitchell or Duncan can defeat Hutchinson and his American band, the British will be avenged for the loss of their "open cup."

SQUARE PLAYER COOLS FIRE OF ANGRY FANS

Wahpeton, N. D.—Clean baseball scored another point recently, in a game between Wahpeton-Breckenridge and Huron, in the Dakota League.

In the ninth inning with the score 3 to 2, in Huron's favor, a Wahpeton-Breckenridge man got on base and was advanced to third.

Close Decision. The next batter grounded to the shortstop who elected to try for the man at the plate. The ball shot home for a close decision and the runner was called out.

Wahpeton-Breckenridge fans went wild. They hurled pop bottles and cushions at the umpire.

In the meantime Roy Patterson, former star in the American Association, and now hurler and pilot on the Wahpeton team, had walked behind the plate and watched the close play.

He rushed to the front of the stands and held up his hands. An instant hush fell over the fans.

Roy Tells 'Em. "I saw the play myself," said Patterson. "Our man was out. The umpire was correct. If you have any fight, take it out on our base runner."

The fans quieted down immediately. "Never saw anything like that before in baseball," said Mike Cantillon, president of the Dakota League. "It shows you what sort of a fellow Patterson is."

BLACK RUST FOUND IN GRAIN FIELDS

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. — Continued hot weather, with reports of appearance of black rust in the wheat in the northwestern states, caused grain quotations to continue their rise on the Chicago board today. Leading houses were on the buying side. There was not much wheat for sale until September delivery reached $1.26, when large offerings caused a rather sharp dip. However, this was regained when the market closed.

Provisions were irregular.
July wheat opened at $1.25 1/2 up and closed up 3/4. Sept. opened at $1.25 1/2 up and closed up 3/4.

July corn opened at 65c up 1/4 and closed unchanged at 65c up 1/4 and closed up 1/4.
July oats opened up 1/4 at 37c and closed up an additional 1/4. Sept. opened at 39 1/4 up 1/4 and closed up 1/4.
